PREFACE

In compiling a genealogy, it is essential that the writer does not lose sight of the particular line of the family in which he is interested. Otherwise, his writings are spread over too large an area and are of no particular value to anyone.

The writer of this volume was interested in the ancestry of the Milton family which first established its home in Nelson County, Kentucky, and then later moved to Lexington, Kentucky, and in which place, as well as Frankfort and Versailles, Kentucky, many members of the family still reside. To members of this family, attention is invited to Section D, Chapter IV.

Sections A through C are data collected by the writer concerning Miltons which do not add to the main objective of this genealogy but are included so that this validated information may not be lost to others who might be interested.

This compilation was started in 1920 and was presented by the writer to his father, Hugh Meglone Milton I (see Section D, Chapter IV). This second volume, much expanded, was compiled in 1960.

A volume such as this is not the work of any one individual. To the members of my family who helped with the data on their immediate families, and especially to James Milton Rush, who assisted in some research, I am most appreciative. To Private First Class John Davis, for his art work, and to my secretary, Miss Dolores M. DeAngelis, who labored so conscientiously in typing and editing, go my heartfelt thanks.

THE FIRST GENERATIONS

The eastern shores of the New Continent presented a formidable challenge at the beginning of the 17th Century which means that all the years begin with sixteen. It was 115 years after Columbus landed in the little Antilles that the first settlement was established at the mouth of the James River in Virginia. Fire destroyed the first house in 1608, one year after it was built, but two years later there were some fifty buildings. And then came the "Starving Time" and the attempted return to Old England, but the timely arrival of Lord Delaware with provisions gave new life. A church was built in 1619, and served as a place of refuge during the Indian massacre of 1622. In 1640 the wooden house of worship was replaced with one of brick and mortar, and with its building a new country was on its way to eminence among the great nations of history. Such was the early history of Cape Henry and Jamestown.

Further up and on the north side of the James River other intrepid explorers had established a settlement at Westover, named after Captain Francis West, who chose the land for Henry West, fourth Lord Delaware, son and heir of his brother, Thomas West, third Lord Delaware, Governor of Virginia. Nearby was the settlement known as Charles City, named after Prince Charles, later King Charles I. This latter settlement was established in 1612, at the mouth of the Appomattox River. This area, west of James City, was known as Bermuda Nether Hundred.

In 1613 Shirley was established. On July 30, 1619, the first free legislative body ever assembled on American soil met in Jamestown and the four "ancient boroughs", Jamestown, Kecoughtan, Henricus, and Charles City, were designated as corporations and Charles City Corporation was divided into five boroughs.

It was on the good ship, "Supply", in 1620, one year after the first legislature at Jamestown that Richard Milton came to Virginia and settled at Westover. Whence did he come? From somewhere near Melton Mowbray in Leicestershire, England. The name, Milton, is spelled either with the e or the i, dependent upon the whim of the individual. In early recorded documents in Virginia archives, the name is spelled either way by the same individual.

Why did he come to America? No one knows. History records that in 1619 Governor George Yeardley, who established the first legislature, succeeded in having twelve hundred colonists sent from the old country, among whom were one hundred felons from prison who were sent by the King's order to be sold as servants to planters; also there were ninety respectable females who were to be disposed of among the planters for the cost of their passage.

If Richard Milton were one of the males in the 1620 shipment, he witnessed or heard of tragic events. The massacre of 1622 when six persons fell under the Tomahawk at Westover, the intermittent marauding of Indians, and sickness and death reduced the population of the Colonies from 4,000 to 2,500. He saw the dissolution of the London Company and the Virginia colony passed directly to the King. A fort was built at Point Comfort and salt works established at Accomac. In 1632 the laws of the colony were revised and consolidated. Tobacco was the only article of export, and, despite occasional trouble from Indians and vagabond colonists, Virginia was growing.

And did Richard Milton secure his wife, a Miss Rose of Scotland, by paying her passage?

All of these conjectures will probably never be answered. But certain it is that he landed in Westover in 1620, and later on November 29, 1636 bought 75 acres of land from Thomas Stagg, and on 26 May 1637 another 75 acres from the same man. Realizing that the quickest way to procure land was to transport colonists from the old country, he turned trader and by paying or providing transportation for 8 persons on October 3, 1638, Richard Milton was granted 400 acres, another grant of 200 acres for an unknown number of colonists, and at a later date he acquired another 400 acres. Having acquired at least 1150 acres, he is recorded as conveying 990 acres to Thomas Wheeler for the transportation of 18 persons on August 23, 1643.

In a wilderness they faced a future, closing behind them a past, known only to themselves. They built their home of logs and mud; the trusty flintlock was always at hand as protection against predatory animals and men. They wrested a spartan existence from a resisting soil and sent their tobacco to foreign markets. To distant Accomac they journeyed for salt and to far off Jamestown for companionship and divine guidance. There in the primeval forest a son was born -- their only child. They named him William. Why, no one today can tell. England had only two by that name -- William the Conqueror and William Rufus. Wallace was the only man of history in Scotland whose given name was William. Of course there was Shakespeare who had died in 1616 and whose name was popular among the literati. Whether it was from an English King, a Scottish King, the Avon Bard or just for the want of a name -- he was called William.

The date of his birth we know not; nor do we know his date of death. There is no record of whom he married. When people were isolated and the dangers of travel great, to kneel before a fire and pray, or stand in the presence of elders and pronounce their troth was sufficient in the sight of God and man. But regardless, history records that he had a son whom he called Richard, no doubt after his father. It is doubted if he was called the 2d or Junior, but, for the recording of this genealogy, Richard, the son of William, will be called Richard II. He was probably born in the last two decades of the 17th Century or possibly in the last decade, for in 1715 he was a father. Whether Richard II was born in Charles County or elsewhere is unknown. The only authentic date of residence is 1725 when he and his wife, Eliza, were granted a tract of land in Stratford County. Later that part of Stratford County was made another county and named after William of Orange. It became Prince William County, which resounded to the opening guns of the War between the States, and the County seat of which is Manassas.

In Deed Book Q, Office of the County Clerk of Prince William County at Manassas, Virginia, on Page 620, there is a deed which makes reference to the 454 acres sold to Richard Milton (II) by the proprietors of Northern Virginia. The land is accurately described as being on the "Buckhall Branch of the Occaquan". To students of history the "Occaquan" is known as "Bull Run" which was made famous by the two battles which made it run red with blood.

If Richard Milton the II with his wife, Eliza, was living in Charles County when the purchase of land in Prince William County was made, the question of how they made the journey to their new homestead offers some interesting conjectures. Overland the distance would be in the magnitude of ninety miles. In times of good roads and modern automobiles this is only an hour's distance, but in the 18th Century, it would probably have taken at least ten days. The woods were dense, and the danger of wild animals was ever-present. In all likelihood they would have gone by water as small craft can still get to the confluence of the Occoquan and Buckhall Branch.

"Buckhall" is still shown on the road maps of Virginia, some two miles south of Manassas on State Road 633. This is new "Buckhall", the old village by that name being some two miles distant and unrecognizable as a village. It was there in 1733 that Richard Milton II died, leaving two sons and three daughters.

Of the three daughters only the dates of their birth and given names are known. Anne, b. August 31, 1720; Eliza, b. March 26, 1723; and Sarah, b. March 26, 1723. The birth and death dates of William, who no doubt was named for his grandfather, are unknown, but he apparently grew to manhood, for his brother Richard III purchased his portion of land inherited from Richard II, without any evidence of guardianship. There is evidence that Anne, Sarah, Eliza and William all died in infancy, but in the case of William, such evidence is refuted by the land transfer to Richard III.

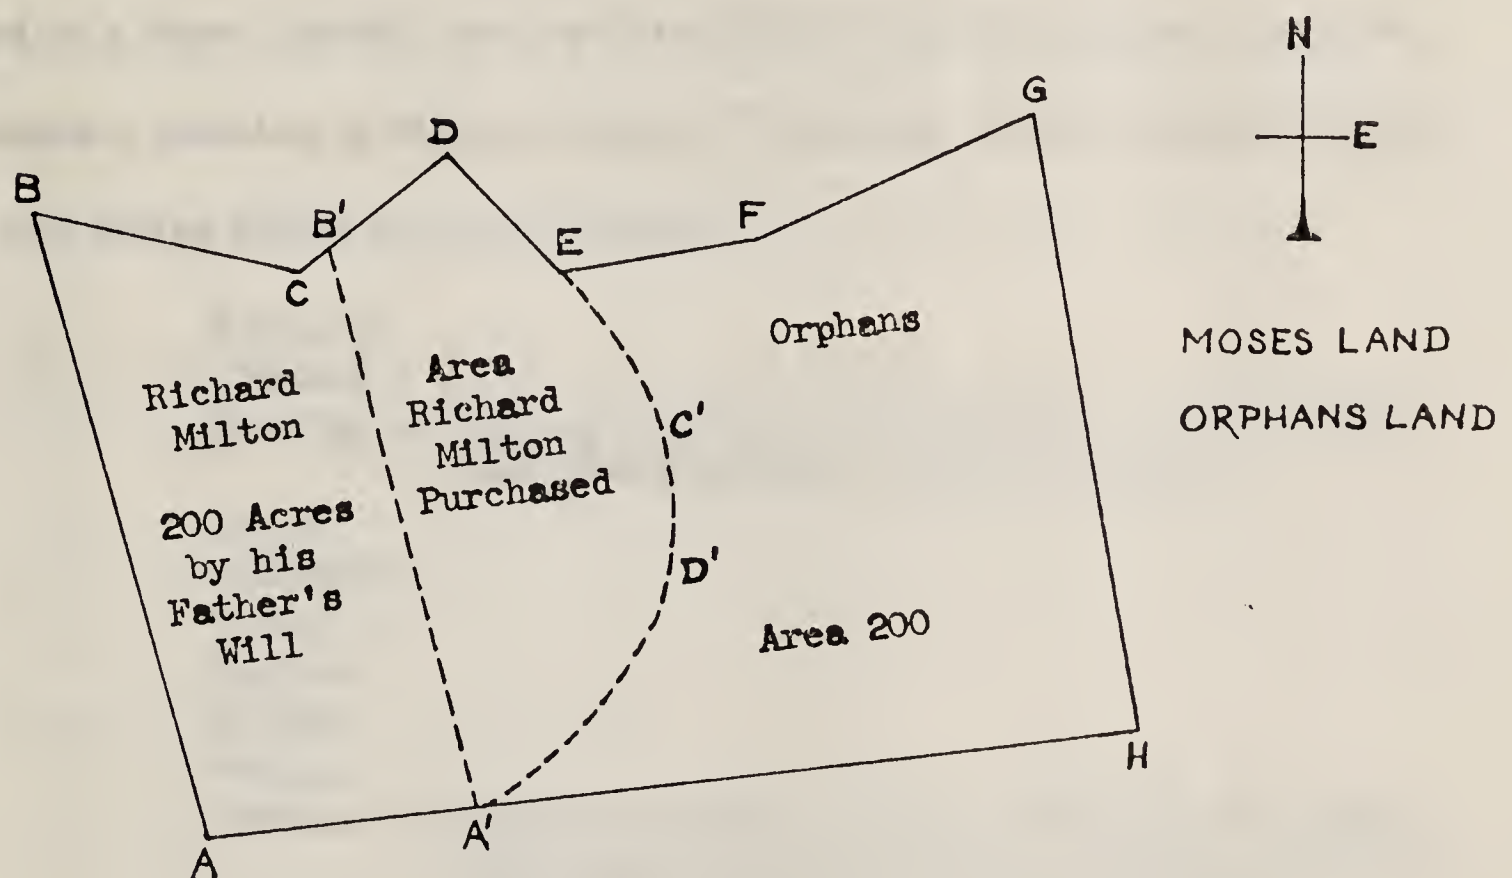

Only Richard III of all five of the children of Richard II and Eliza, his wife, had any recorded progeny. Known as Richard Milton of "Cowpers Cabin Branch", Prince William County, Virginia, he was born in 1715 and died on Chaplin Fork of Salt River, Nelson County in 1800 where he moved with his family after the Revolutionary War. The time of the move was established as 1787. From the first recorded date of Richard I (1636) until the death of Richard III (1800) is 164 years. Richard I was a mature man to receive his land patents (1636) so at the minimum he would have been twenty-one years of age in 1636 -- thus giving a total of 185 years for four generations or 46 years to each as an average. Richard Milton III reached an age of 85 years, and his wife, a Miss Margaret Ross of Ross-Shire, Scotland, was born in 1716 and died in 1811, attaining an age of 95 years.

The land on "Buckhall Branch of the Occaquan", purchased by Richard Milton II from the proprietors of the Neck of Northern Virginia, came into the hands of Richard Milton III by bequest and purchase. Apparently, Richard Milton II, upon demise, bequeathed one-third of his land (454 acres) to Richard III (his son); one-third to William (his son); and one-third to the infant son of Richard III, whose name was William. In Book Q of Deeds in Prince William County (page 620) there is a plot somewhat as follows:

The deed protected the rights of the infant who was represented by his guardian, Major Lewis Reno. Margaret, the wife of Richard Milton III, signed with an X. The deed was signed by Richard Milton III and witnessed by Nancy and Elijah, his children; by William, his brother, and by Elizabeth Emerson Barber. The deed described the land as abutting that of Henry Washington, was dated July 4, 1768 and deeded to Major Reno. Apparently, this was the conveyance of the land preparatory to moving to Kentucky.

The movement of the family to the "Dark and Bloody Ground" was quite a migration. Nancy, apparently the oldest child, was already married to a Jesse Davis, and moved with her father, mother, husband, and children, settling in Nelson County, Kentucky. The children of Nancy Milton and Jesse Davis were as follows:

- Edmund
- Thomas
- Presley - (who was married three times, his first wife was Nancy Milton, a first cousin.)
- Jesse
- Elizabeth
- Nancy
- Harriot
- Elijah
- Wilson
- William - (had one daughter, Kate, who married Major Alexander Grant, and they, in turn, had three children, Alexander, James and Bill.)

Francis Milton, another daughter of Richard Milton III, married a James Davis, brother of Jesse (husband of Nancy). They also moved to Kentucky and had a large family. Margaret Milton, another daughter of Richard III, married a Mr. Moore, while Sally married a Mr. Wilson. Another daughter, whose given name is unknown, married a Mr. Chew. All of the girls with their husbands moved to Kentucky and, other than the offspring of Nancy (Mrs. Jesse Davis), Margaret (Mrs. Moore) is the only one who had offspring of record - Shadrach, Eben and James.

There were four sons from the union of Richard Milton III and Margaret Ross Milton -- John, William, Moses, and Elijah. The first two remained in Virginia; John settled near Berryville and established his home known as Milton Valley; William remained in Prince William County. Elijah moved to Elkhorn Creek, Fayette County, Kentucky, in the year 1792. It is not known whether Moses moved with his father to Kentucky but it is certain that some of his children went to Nelson County, Kentucky with their grandfather.

Since the interest of the compiler of any genealogy is his own blood stream, but realizing that certain collateral information may be of value to others, the four sons of Richard Milton III will be treated in the following order, with all the facts as compiled:

1. William - Section A
2. John - Section B
3. Elijah, and - Section C
4. Moses, since he was the great, great, great grandfather of the compiler - Section D

APPENDIX I THE FIRST GENERATIONS

One of the benefits of compiling a genealogy is to ascertain if one can tie family to historical events. It is, therefore, reasonable to anticipate that the Miltons wonder if there is a direct line to participants in the War of the Revolution. The compiler has found the following information.

In 1775, there were three generations of Miltons. There was Richard Milton the 3d, who was born in 1715, and, in 1775, he had reached the age of 60. This probably made him too old to serve.

Moses Milton, son of Richard the 3d, born 1740, would have been in his middle 40's during the Revolutionary War. A reference (Jillson-1926, Old Kentucky Entries and Deeds-Military Warrants) was found of his owning 500 acres of land on Ash Creek, Nelson County, March 20, 1786. Further investigation discloses that he received this land from his father, Richard 3d, who had purchased it from John Higgins who had received the military warrant. Other members of the Milton family, either in direct line or on the distaff side, who received military land grants, are shown in Appendix II, attached hereto.

Richard Milton the 4th was born in 1768 and was only 7 years of age at the time of the war. Hence, he was too young to serve.

In Prince Charles County, Virginia, near Westover, there is a small settlement known as Milton. This was, no doubt, named after Richard Milton the 1st who settled there. Close by, there is a town known as Berkeley. It is interesting to note that, in the family of Napoleon Bonaparte Milton of Lexington, Kentucky, there was a son who was named Berkeley, no doubt, tying back to the name of this town, which was named for Lord Berkeley who had a grant of land in this area.

* * * * *

There is a story handed down by word of mouth that Napoleon Bonaparte Milton of Lexington, Kentucky was named after the "Little Corporal" of France; that Rochambeau knew one of his grandsires and had offered to take the grandsire to Haiti and give him a grant of land if he would join with Napoleon's forces. This cannot be substantiated by historical fact, but is recorded here in the event that some members of the family might wish to pursue it further.

THE FIRST GENERATIONS

In the Library of Congress there is a book captioned, "Adventures of Purse and Person - Virginia, 1607-1625". In this volume will be found two references to Richard Milton.

On page 17 of the above cited reference under "Muster" - 23th January 1624, it shows as follows: Provisions: Corn 4 bushells. Arms and ammunition: powder, 2 lb.; lead, 50 lb.; peece fixt 1; armour 1. Swine and poultrie: swine, 3; poultrie, 20. Houses: houses, 2.

On page 135 of the above cited authority under John Clay, an ancestor of Henry Clay, and who came to Virginia in 1616 on the Good Ship "Treasurer", and his wife, Ann, who came to Virginia in 1623 on the Ship "Anne" settled on the Charles River just south of Hopewell. He bought land near "Westover", which land is described in the patent grant to Richard Milton in 1636.

THE FIRST OBSERVATIONS ON THE THEORY OF THE
EARTHQUAKES

The first observations on the theory of the earthquakes, which are the subject of this paper, are those which have been made by the astronomers, and which are the subject of the paper of Mr. Laplace, in the Philosophical Transactions, 1785, p. 1.

It is well known, that the earthquakes are the most violent of the natural phenomena, and that they are the most dangerous to the human race. The first observations on the theory of the earthquakes, which are the subject of this paper, are those which have been made by the astronomers, and which are the subject of the paper of Mr. Laplace, in the Philosophical Transactions, 1785, p. 1.

THE SECOND OBSERVATIONS
ON THE THEORY OF THE
EARTHQUAKES

The second observations on the theory of the earthquakes, which are the subject of this paper, are those which have been made by the astronomers, and which are the subject of the paper of Mr. Laplace, in the Philosophical Transactions, 1785, p. 1.

SECTION A

THE FAMILY OF

WILLIAM MILTON

SECTION 1

THE FIRST PART

WILLIAM B. FOSTER

William Milton, son of Richard Milton II, great grandson of Richard Milton, the immigrant, was born, lived and died in Prince William County, Virginia. It is known for certain that he had one daughter, and there is record in Prince William County of the marriage of a Miss Foster to a William Milton, and it is probable that he married a second time and had issue which is listed as follows:

John Milton - Born, 1759; Died, 1818. There seems to be some conflict among records regarding the exact year of birth, some state 1758 and some 1759. However, all records agree that the place of his birth was Prince William County, Virginia. He left the county of his birth when quite a young man and settled near Berryville, Virginia where he built the homestead known as Milton Valley. On December 5, 1780, he gave bond for 35,000 pounds as treasurer of the county board of charities, which office he held for 12 years. In 1797 he became President of the Board. He was Justice of the Peace, Vestryman of the Parish in 1785, Trustee of Battletown, now Berryville, when the village was incorporated in 1798. Broad fields of wheat and corn, meadows with large herds of cattle and sheep grazing upon them, and the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow citizens indicate the complete success with which his efforts were crowned. "The Story of a Long Life", written by his granddaughter, Harriot Milton Hammond, while referring primarily to his daughter, Mrs. Bushrod Taylor, gives an excellent description of the beautiful home life at "Milton Valley" and of the members of the household and those who so frequently shared their hospitality.

The First Census Report of the United States in 1790 shows John Milton - Frederick County, Virginia; 2 White (Presumably his two oldest children) and 5 slaves.

John Milton was married first, July 20, 1782, to Anne Stribling, and second to Mrs. Catherine Washington Nelson, February 20, 1792. By the first union there were four children and by the latter, seven. The children are listed below:

I. Margaret Milton, daughter of John, was born at "Milton Valley", June 21, 1792, and died March 20, 1794.

II. William Milton, son of John, was born at "Milton Valley", July 15, 1794 and died December 22, 1797.

III. Lucinda Milton, daughter of John and twin to Florinda, was born at "Milton Valley", October 28, 1802 and died March 19, 1803.

IV. Taliaferro Milton was born at "Milton Valley", September 13, 1783. He moved to Staunton while still a young man and practiced law at that place until his death, August 12, 1806.

V. Harriot Milton was born at "Milton Valley", July 23, 1785. Her early life was evidently spent in and around this quiet and sequestered homestead near Berryville. She married first, March 13, 1806, John McIlhany and from this union there was one son, Taliaferro Milton McIlhany. Her second marriage was to William Taylor, November 11, 1812, and the product of this union was three children. Harriot died, August 23, 1885.

(1) Taliaferro Milton McIlhany - From all available records it has been impossible to ascertain the dates of birth and death of Taliaferro Milton McIlhany and whether there were any children.

Elijah Milton, son of Richard Milton III, great grandson of Richard Milton, the immigrant, was born in Prince William County, Virginia on December 23, 1755 and died in Fayette County, Kentucky on November 10, 1833. He married at Green Hill, Frederick County, Virginia on January 28, 1794 to Miss Catherine Taylor (born June 9, 1776; died Fayette County, Kentucky, July 29, 1828). Elijah served as Master of Army Wagons during the Revolution and was associated with Count (General) Rochambeau, who, at the close of the war, insisted that Elijah return with him to France and settle on one of his estates. Elijah refused to do this, preferring the unsettled Kentucky wilderness. Consequently, in 1792 he moved with his family to Elkhorn Creek near Lexington. He occupied the house that is at present owned and occupied by his grandson, Elijah Watkins. Elijah had five children as follows:

- I. Caroline Taylor Milton, born Nelson County, Kentucky on December 2, 1794; died Lexington, Kentucky on June 8, 1868. She married John Hancock Watkins (born Hanover County, Virginia, October 1, 1785; died Scott County, Missouri, September 3, 1845, son of Henry Watkins and half-brother of Henry Clay). They lived and farmed in Woodford County, Kentucky until 1842 when they moved to Missouri. They had twelve children:

CHAPTER I

MOSES MILTON I

Richard Milton III left his "Cowpers Cabin Branch" farm in Prince William County, Virginia, and traveled over land and by water as far as the rivers could transport him to Nelson County, Kentucky. The exact number of his family who accompanied him is not known, nor whether all who did go went together. He did leave some of his sons in Virginia, and one, John, settled near Berryville. The old homestead is known as "Milton Valley".

It is still a matter of wonderment why the family should pass through the rich blue grass region and settle in the less fertile part of the state. The same question has been asked regarding the Catholic settlements in the same area. No one can answer the question, but is it not as logical to ask if these immigrants went through the Blue Grass. Prince William County is in northern Virginia and near that area which seceded during the War Between the States and became West Virginia. The home of Nancy Hanks, the mother of Abraham Lincoln, is just west of the Virginia-West Virginia boundary, and she and Tom Lincoln found their way to western Kentucky. Could it not be possible that they went down the Ohio River to somewhere near the present location of Louisville and then turned east?

At any rate, in 1787, Moses Milton, the son of Richard Milton III,

CHAPTER
THE FUTURE

The first of the two main questions which arise in connection with the future of the world is the question of the future of the human race. It is a question which has been asked for centuries, and it is one which will continue to be asked for centuries to come. The second question is the question of the future of the world as a whole. It is a question which has also been asked for centuries, and it is one which will continue to be asked for centuries to come.

The first of the two main questions which arise in connection with the future of the world is the question of the future of the human race. It is a question which has been asked for centuries, and it is one which will continue to be asked for centuries to come. The second question is the question of the future of the world as a whole. It is a question which has also been asked for centuries, and it is one which will continue to be asked for centuries to come.

At the same time, it is not possible to see the future of the world as a whole without seeing the future of the human race. The two questions are inseparable, and they must be considered together.

settled on the Chaplin Fork of the Salt River in Nelson County. He was 47 years of age when he made the journey, having been born in Prince William County, Virginia, in 1740. His wife's maiden name is unknown, but her given name was Mary, as it appears on the original grant in 1786 in Nelson County.

Six of the children of Moses Milton did not accompany him to Kentucky. James, who was born in 1760, stayed in Virginia and lived the better part of his life near Shenandale. Robert Milton, another son of Moses, born in 1762, lived his entire life in Virginia. Alexander Ross Milton I (son of Moses) was born in 1764 and died in 1824 (for his lineage, see Appendix A of this chapter).

The children of Moses Milton and his wife, Mary, totaled twelve. There were nine boys and three girls. The names of the girls are unknown, and three of the boys mentioned above stayed in Virginia. Those sons who accompanied Moses or migrated at a later date are as follows:

- I. Presley Milton - Nothing is known of his family, if he had one, nor the dates of birth and death.
- II. William Milton - who lived in western Kentucky and had two daughters.
- III. John Milton - who lived in Nelson County, Kentucky and had four sons:

Joseph - married Sue Heady

- IV. Moses Milton II - born 1766 and lived in Oldham County, Kentucky. He had four sons: James, Robert, William and John. Only the last-named had children. There were two girls and three boys. One girl, Fannie, married a Mr. Huffaker - the other, Mollie, married a Mr. Tuttle. Two of the boys -- William Isaac and James Merrett -- had no children, but the third son, John M., had four sons -- William T., James Merrett, John, and L. R.
- V. Elijah Milton - lived in Nelson County - had three daughters. One daughter married Josh Hobbs, another was named Betsy, an ancestor of Luke Moores.

APPENDIX I
CHAPTER III

GENEALOGY OF MARTHA McINTYRE MILTON

Martha McIntyre Milton, the wife of Napoleon Bonaparte Milton, was born in Nelson County, Kentucky in 1833, the daughter of Benjamin McIntyre and Martha Meglone. Little is known of Benjamin McIntyre; however, he was reported to be somewhat a soldier of fortune and was interested in horse racing. Martha Meglone was born in 1808 and died at the time of the birth of her daughter, Martha, in 1833. Martha, as a baby, was taken by her Grandmother Meglone along with her cousin, _____, who later married a Mr. Huchinson and who also was left without parents in early life, and both lived to maturity with their Grandmother. Upon the death of Grandmother Meglone, her estate was to be divided between Martha McIntyre and her cousin, both of whom were then married. Martha McIntyre Milton always maintained that she was deprived of her part of her inheritance through the efforts of her cousin's husband. This caused a rift in family relations which remained unhealed for three generations.

Martha McIntyre Milton died of cancer in 1912 and is buried beside her husband in the Lexington, Kentucky cemetery.

THE JAMES BOYS

The James Boys, notorious outlaws, are reported to have spent some time at the home of Napoleon Bonaparte Milton. Martha Burton Milton, daughter of Napoleon Bonaparte Milton, reported that, while they lived at Chaplin, Kentucky, and during a rather severe illness of her father, the James Boys detailed one of their men to sit up with him at night, and, on one occasion, one of the men was sent into Bardstown for medicine.

When the James Boys robbed the Elizabethtown Bank, they stopped at the home of Napoleon Bonaparte Milton in Chaplin, Kentucky, and one man was on duty all night watching the road for the Pinkerton men. Hugh Meglone Milton was a baby at that time, and the man on watch nursed him during the night.

CHAPTER III

Near the grave of William Richard Milton at Bloomfield, Nelson County, Kentucky, is the double grave of Jeroboam Beauchamp and his wife. Jeroboam Beauchamp was hanged in 1826 for the murder of Judge Sharp of Frankfort, Kentucky. Jeroboam Beauchamp's wife killed herself. Before his execution, Jeroboam Beauchamp wrote his confession, and the only known copy in existence is in the hands of Hugh Meglone Milton II, the compiler of this genealogy. The story of the murder is the subject of a book written by Robert Penn Warren. The double grave is marked by a stone slab on which is engraved a poem written by one of the relatives of Jeroboam Beauchamp. A copy of the poem is in the confession.

CHAPTER III

Susan McKay (see p. 70), born Nelson County, Kentucky, date unknown. Died, Bonham, Texas. She was the daughter of Uriah (Hugh) McKay, born in Maryland, 1782; died in Nelson County, Kentucky, 1830. He married Elizabeth O'Neal, born 1786; died 1891; thus, living to 105 years. Elizabeth O'Neal McKay was left a widow at the age of 44 with 9 children. The compiler of this genealogy remembers his father speaking of "Aunt Betty" McKay, and that, just a few days before her death, she rode on a side saddle to church.

Uriah (Hugh) McKay was the son of Richard McKay, born in Scotland, 1745; died in Nelson County, Kentucky, 1823. Richard McKay served in the Revolutionary War as a Private in the 2nd Troop, First Regiment, Light Dragoons, commanded by Captain John Watts. Photographic copies of his record are in the possession of the compiler of this genealogy. It is interesting to note also that his name appears as McKey and McKee. However, there is no question as to the fact that it is the same man.

Elizabeth O'Neal, mentioned above, was the daughter of John O'Neal who also served in the Revolution as a soldier of the Virginia Line and was given a land grant of 200 acres on a military warrant on January 29, 1784.

CHAPTER IV

HUGH MEGLONE MILTON I

Hugh Meglone Milton I, the son of Napoleon Bonaparte Milton and Martha McIntyre Milton, was born in Nelson County, Kentucky, on May 30, 1865. As a very young boy he moved to Lexington, Kentucky with his parents. He was only seven years old when his father died, and the only schooling he received was prior to his eleventh year when he started to work to help support his family. He became an apprentice to a tailor, and he followed this trade until the time of his death, November 6, 1939. He was a man of sterling worth, and, despite his lack of formal education, he was extremely well read. In a financial sense, he acquired little, but men of high office, judges, doctors, clergymen, as well as businessmen, esteemed him, and his tailor shop was a gathering place for people who just wanted to hear him "talk". He was greatly beloved by all who knew him.

He married Gordo Ovana Howard, November 28, 1885, who was born in Madison County, Kentucky, March 5, 1868. (For her genealogy, see Appendix I to this chapter.) Gordo Ovana Howard Milton died on February 2, 1946.

Their long life together, which covered fifty-four years, left many memories never to be forgotten. Their home at 550 Elm Tree Lane in Lexington was accepted by the Howard in-laws, as well as distant relatives, as the home for all. On Thanksgiving Day, 1935, they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, and their children assembled from Arizona, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, as well as from Kentucky.

This revered couple sleep side by side in the cemetery in Lexington, Kentucky. One daughter, Molly Wesley Milton, born 1889, and died 1890, is also buried in Lexington. One son, Arthur Howard Milton, born March 4, 1888, and who married Dora Moore in 1919, and who served as a lieutenant of Infantry in World War I but left no offspring, died in Medford, Oregon on February 8, 1955, and is also buried in Lexington.

In addition to the two children mentioned above, there were two daughters and three sons. In chronological order of birth, they are: (a) Frankie May, (b) Edyth McKay, (c) Hugh Meglone, (d) Lewis Newton, and (e) James Albert.

a. The anchor of the Milton tribe, after the passing of her Father and Mother, yes, even before, is Frankie May Milton, who was born August 31, 1886 in Lexington, Kentucky. She was educated in the public schools of Lexington and attended Transylvania University and the University of Kentucky. She taught for several years in Chaplin, Eminence, and Lexington schools and, on June 26, 1912 married Willette Holderman Rush. They lived first in Virginia and moved to Kentucky, June 1, 1921. Their later life was spent in Versailles, Kentucky, where their home, like that of her Father and Mother, became the place where the entire family assembled. Frankie May became affectionately known to her nephews and nieces as "Aunt Frankie"; to her children, as "Mother"; and to her grandchildren, as "Nannie"; and she was often called by her Father, "Miss Betsie". Her husband was affectionately called "Pappy" by all who knew him.

Willette Holderman Rush was born in Chaplin, Kentucky, July 31, 1876. He was an outstanding farmer, and, while his business was that of banker, he always had his garden plot, and anything that he planted grew abundantly. He died, lamented by all who knew him, on May 11, 1949.

The children of Willette Holderman Rush and Frankie May Milton Rush were four in number, one daughter and three sons:

- (1) James Milton Rush, born May 27, 1913 in Branchville, Virginia. He graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1935 and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He married Marion Innes Johnson, April 13, 1936, and she died August 26, 1939. There were no children from this union. During World War II, he served in the United States Marine Corps and attained the rank of Major and was stationed, at one time, on the Island of Bougainville along with his uncle, Hugh Meglone Milton II (see c below). On December 29, 1945, he married Mary Esther Elkins, who was born April 25, 1908, and they have one child, Elizabeth Mary Rush, born November 10, 1946.

in San Francisco, California. At the time of this writing, he is in the tobacco business in Louisville with farming interests in Indiana.

- (4) Willett Howard Rush, born in Branchville, Virginia, June 22, 1915. He attended the University of Kentucky where he received the Bachelor of Science degree in 1937. He then attended Vanderbilt University from which he received his medical degree in 1941. He was in the United States Coast Guard in World War II and attained the rank of Lieutenant (j.g.). On June 22, 1941, he married Martha Weakley Hawkins, born June 22, 1917. He is a practicing physician in Frankfort, Kentucky. The children of Willett Howard Rush and Martha Weakley Hawkins Rush are:

- (a) Willett Howard Rush, Jr. - Born, February 15, 1944.
(b) Martha Weakley Rush - Born, May 9, 1947.
(c) Robert Hawkins Rush - Born, March 14, 1950.

- (5) Ovana Louise Rush, born November 2, 1917. She attended the University of Kentucky and received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Education in 1939. She is teaching in the public schools of Lexington, Kentucky.

- (6) Frank Kenneth Rush, born October 18, 1919. He attended the University of Kentucky and received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education in 1946. During World War II, he was in the Navy Air Corps and attained the rank of Captain. After the war, he continued in the National Guard in Kentucky and attained the rank of Lieutenant. On November 29, 1944, he married Marjorie Lee Randolph, who was born March 21, 1922. Frank Kenneth Rush lives in Versailles, Kentucky and is connected with the General Electric Company. The children of Frank Kenneth Rush and Marjorie Lee Randolph Rush are as follows:

- (a) Karen Lee Rush - Born, December 15, 1947.
- (b) Kenneth Randolph Rush - Born, April 25, 1951.
- (c) Raymond Milton Rush - Born, June 19, 1959.

b. Edyth McKay Milton, the second daughter of Hugh Meglone Milton and Gordo Ovana Howard Milton, was born in Lexington, Kentucky, July 25, 1891. On October 20, 1915, she married Lloyd LaVerne Roach, who was born October 19, 1890 in Liberal, Missouri and died August 22, 1953 and was interred in Lexington, Kentucky. Mr. Roach was a Minister of the Christian Church, and his preparation for his calling was attained at Transylvania from which university he received his Doctorate of Divinity degree. He occupied several pulpits in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Kentucky. They had one daughter and two sons as follows:

- (1) LaVerne Milton Roach - Born in Wichita, Kansas, July 2,

1916. He attended Oklahoma A&M College, receiving his Bachelor of Science degree in 1938, and later attended Colorado A&M; and from the latter institution, he received the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine in 1942. He served in the United States Air Force during the Korean emergency and attained the rank of Captain. On August 15, 1940, he married Alice Margaret Hopkins, who was born in Hollis, Oklahoma, October 22, 1918, and received the degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts (Music) from Oklahoma State University in 1939. Dr. Roach is practicing veterinary medicine in Frankfort, Kentucky. The children of LaVerne Milton Roach and Alice Margaret Hopkins Roach are as follows:

- (a) Robert Hopkins Roach, born August 9, 1941 at Fort Collins, Colorado.
- (b) Rebecca Milton Roach, born January 6, 1946 at Lexington, Kentucky.
- (c) Barbara Milton Roach, born September 11, 1947 at Pee-wee Valley, Kentucky.
- (d) Beverly Milton Roach, born April 8, 1954 at San Antonio, Texas.
- (e) Beth Milton Roach, born July 24, 1955 at Wiesbaden, Germany.

COPY OF
APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

2 February 1960

TO THE BOARD OF MANAGERS OF
PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY OF SONS OF THE REVOLUTION

I, Hugh Maglone Milton II, hereby apply for membership in this Society by right of descent from Richard McKay who was born in Scotland Co., _____, 1745; was a resident of Kentucky and died in Nelson County, Kentucky on _____, 1823.

His services in assisting in the establishment of American Independence during the War of the Revolution, upon which my claim of eligibility to membership is based, were as follows:

(Service) Richard McKay (McKee or McKey) served as a Private in the 1st Troop, commanded by Captain John Watts, 1st Regiment, Light Dragoons, Continental Troops, Revolutionary War. His name appears on the Company payroll for January 1783 and bears no special mark relative to his service. His name is also found on an undated list of officers and soldiers of the "Virginia Line on Continental Establishment", which shows as follows relative to him, "Regiment of Light Dragoons, Number of Acres, 100". The troop was first commanded by Captain Cuthbert Harrison - See attached Exhibit No. 1.

(Authority) See Exhibit No. 2 attached.

I declare upon honor, that if admitted to membership in this Society I will endeavor to promote the purposes of its Institution and observe the Constitution and By-laws of this Society and support the Constitution of the United States.
